HALSEY ART SALE HAS EXCITING BIDS

Auction of French Engravings.

Last night's sale of the Halsey collection of eighteenth century French engravings was even more exciting to collectors than the previous session. Better prices were realised, indicating a great increase in values all along the list.

The record price of the evening was $2,500 paid by M. Knoedler & Co. for No. 245, "Les Deux Balsers," engraved by Debucourt after his own design. The famous "Promenade Publique," by Debucourt, No. 253, also went to Knoedler & Co. for $2,209.

added to the pleasure of the audience.

She sang first an air by Gaveaux, following it with Marais's "Si Jetais petitionseau" and Gluck's "Spiagge Amate."

In these she made known to her hearers a voice of beautiful quality, a good command of legato, good phrasing and fine vocalization. Indeed her diction in each of the languages in her list was of uncommon excellence.

Miss Miller was happiest in songs which did not exceed the medium range of her voice. Her head tones were sometimes pinched, and in such lyrics as "Von Ewiger Liebe" the organ lacked the necessary volume. In her interpretations she showed skill in delineating varied moods, together with warmth of feeling. Her vocal equipment is unsuited to the forcibile utterance of passionate emetion, but within her field she is a delightful singer. sionate emotion, but within her field she is a delightful singer.
